

Plan a healthy retirement for you and your family

DOING the things you enjoy in retirement makes all the hard work worthwhile.

Whether it is living the comfortable lifestyle you desire, travelling overseas or having time for charity work, there are some luxuries we all aspire to.

This is also a time when cherished lifelong memories are created through experiences and special times shared with the most important people in your life.

By now you may be sitting back enjoying your retirement based on good advice and years of careful planning.

If you are, great work!

Unfortunately, even with careful planning, market fluctuations happen and our clients often ask "Will the money last?"

If you haven't sought advice in the past or have asked yourself this very question, now may be the best time to seek some complimentary advice to check if you're still on track.

For more than 62 years McConachie Stedman advisers have been providing clients with solutions in the areas of retirement planning, accounting and taxation, business advisory services, superannuation, wealth accumulation, investment reviews, auditing and most recently, personal risk insurance and lending options.

If you would like to explore how your money will last for you and your family, book your complimentary consultation with a McConachie Stedman Financial Planner today by calling 4632 1966.
